LAW & ECONOMICS CENTER

HENRY G. MANNE PROGRAM IN LAW & ECONOMICS STUDIES

Research Roundtable on Capitalism & the Rule of Law

Wednesday, March 2 - Sunday, March 6, 2022
Destin, Florida

ABOUT US

Since its inception in 1974, the Law & Economics Center has played a critical role as a leader in law and economics research and education. The LEC recognizes both the importance of timely, relevant, and unassailable research on public policy issues as well as the necessity of communicating research findings to those who are directly shaping our country's public policy discussions. With research divisions devoted to top-quality legal policy analysis and educational arms reaching out to judges, attorneys general, and other policymakers, the LEC is uniquely equipped to positively affect national policy outcomes.

The generous support of individuals, foundations, and corporations makes LEC activities possible. A current list of LEC donors may be found on our website at www.masonlec.org.

OUR DIVISIONS

THE JUDICIAL EDUCATION PROGRAM is the nation's preeminent provider of high-quality, balanced judicial education seminars and conferences that focus on economics, finance, accounting, statistics, and the scientific method. The LEC has been offering educational programs for judges since 1976.

THE HENRY G. MANNE PROGRAM IN LAW & ECONOMICS STUDIES promotes law and economics scholarship by funding faculty research and hosting policy-relevant research roundtables and academic conferences.

THE ATTORNEYS GENERAL EDUCATION PROGRAM offers courses that provide a broad-based understanding of economic and public policy issues to state attorneys general, solicitors general and their staff lawyers.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CIVIL JUSTICE ACADEMY provides balanced educational programs on a range of civil justice issues for the benefit of Members of the US Congress, their staffs, and their constituents.

THE PROGRAM ON ECONOMICS & PRIVACY produces timely and original economic analysis of the privacy, data security, competition, and consumer protection issues intrinsic to the modern, digital economy, and it injects this analysis into public discussions by holding educational programs and forums in which scholars, thought leaders, and policymakers share research and insights.

THE TRIBAL LAW & ECONOMICS PROGRAM offers law and economics education to provide tribal leaders, judges, and academics with effective tools to aid them in their efforts toward self-governance, commissions rigorous research to provide data needed in support of those efforts, and creates a clinic staffed by law students and guided by law faculty to offer legal assistance to the tribes.

JOHN P. ANDERSON

*J. Will Young Professor of Law
Mississippi College School of Law*

Professor Anderson's scholarship focuses on securities enforcement, white-collar crime, and intersections of law and philosophy (e.g., business ethics, constitutionalism, problems of pluralism, and human rights). His recent articles address the law and ethics of insider trading, the problem of how to build a just and enduring constitutional order in the face of increasing religious and cultural pluralism, and the theoretical underpinnings of our international human rights regime. He has been published in leading peer-reviewed journals (e.g., Law & Philosophy, Journal of Law and Religion, and Contemporary Pragmatism) and in top law journals (most recently in the Journal of Corporation Law, Virginia Law & Business Review, Washington University Journal of Law & Policy, Temple Law Review, Utah Law Review, and University of Miami Law Review). Professor Anderson recently published a book with Cambridge University Press, "Insider Trading: Law Ethics and Reform," and he is a frequent contributor to the Columbia Law School Blue Sky Blog.

SARAH J. WILLIAMS

*Assistant Professor of Law
Penn State Dickinson Law*

An expert in securities regulation, Sarah J. Williams previously served as Deputy Director and Associate Director for the Division of Registration and Inspections, Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (PCAOB), Washington, D.C. In these roles, she drafted rules, designed electronic systems and established compliance frameworks for public accounting firms subject to PCAOB oversight, and provided both written and oral guidance on PCAOB regulatory requirements. She also recommended regulatory actions to governing Board members and participated in administrative hearings against public accounting firms. She was selected to the PCAOB inaugural Diversity and Inclusion Council based on her demonstrated leadership, innovation and teamwork.
