Welcome!

On behalf of the George Mason Law Review, the Law & Economics Center, the Global Antitrust Institute, and Antonin Scalia Law School, welcome to the 27th Annual George Mason Law Review Antitrust Symposium! It is our pleasure to present what has shaped up to be a very accomplished conference during a unique time in antitrust law. Since its inception, this symposium has been a forum for lawyers, economists, scholars, and judges worldwide to explore the robust debates in antitrust law.

This year's symposium will focus on the recent developments in antitrust law and policy that profoundly impact how markets are regulated around the world. This symposium has a longstanding tradition of showcasing diverse points of view; we thank our participants for contributing their time and ideas in pursuit of this goal.

We are grateful to our generous sponsor, NERA Economic Consulting, for making this free event possible again this year. Please enjoy the 27th Annual Antitrust Symposium.
